Driver

Because the education wasn't done right, I had to drive a three-wheeler. BMWs go on, without a care, But for three-wheelers, it's always an obstacle.

Divided into "cars" and "three-wheelers," The small ones always face a deficit. Though they put on glasses of white iron, Every vehicle will someday break down.

Whether you drive an Alto, Prado, BMW, a bicycle, motorbike, or three-wheeler, all of you are drivers once you're at the steering wheel.

Wins and Defeat

Amidst love and separation
Amid a tragic upheaval,
People wander, seeking solace.
The beloved haven
Remains a place of solitude...

Wonderful Touch

If it were possible to touch, thought by thought, it would reveal to you how thoughts rise and fall.

If it were possible to touch, you would feel the wonderful difference between lust and love.

If it were possible to touch, not the mother's feet, but her heart, you would feel that nothing in the world can ever be compared to her.

Dear Mother

Waking up before the sun, you are the only one who always lights up my world, Mother.

I run with a bundle of dreams, flying to conquer the world, yet always feeling the warmth of your love.

When I walked alone, you helped me. Without shedding a single tear, you gave me courage and helped me rise.

The Life

There's a single star and there's a hidden face is found. Among thousands of stars, you smile and appear to me. How were you able to make me cry and laugh? In the morning, the sun's rays make the blossoms bloom. Intoxicated by that scent, I flutter my wings like a bee. With a happy heart, I stepped into another new dawn.

The background of the entire cover is a textured, aged parchment-like surface. It features faint, large-scale illustrations: a military map with various locations and routes on the left, and a large, detailed compass rose on the right. In the lower half, there is a depiction of several parachutes descending, with two small figures of soldiers visible at the bottom. A central white rectangular box with a dark border contains the title and publication information.
